

JONES COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE
ELLISVILLE, MISSISSIPPI

THE 65 LAIR

JANIS L. MAYFIELD, EDITOR
REBECCA J. ALLUMS, BUSINESS MGR.

DEDICATION

Miss Dorothy Jones, as assistant to the Registrar, has made acquaintance in some manner with every student at Jones County Junior College. She has met many personally when they attend to business in Mr. Blackwell's office, but others she knows rather by grades and records. Her interest in all students is genuine, and she encourages them to do their best.

Laboriously recording grades after the faculty turn in their reports to the Registrar's office, meticulously preparing transcripts, or kindly befriending lost or lonesome students, Miss Jones performs the College a vital and indispensable service.

Her many friends among the faculty, staff, and student body know her as a superb rose gardener, an expert cook, and a thoughtful confidante.

FOREWORD

The symbiotic relationship which naturally exists between a college and its town makes the town worthy of notice. But when the home of the college is practically museumlike in appearance, it prods us to use Ellisville's history as the theme for the 1965 Lair.

The iron fences, the gingerbread trim on many houses, the crumbling graveyards, the old churches (one of which is to be replaced by a more modern but less significant structure), pre-Civil War houses - all contribute the necessary interest to the usually bland feature pictures.

The accounts of such episodes as Newt Knight's legendary desertion, the enterprising of merchants like J. P. Myer, and the tales of the aboriginal Indians have given us what poets would call inspiration, but what is really only a framework to build on.

-- JANIS

MAYFIELD

Editor, '65 Lair

ELLISVILLE : THE BEGINNINGS

The exact date of the beginning of the town of Ellisville is not known, but many believe its founding was in 1815, for at that time a ferry started operation on Tallahalla Creek to assist travelers on horseback and in wagons as they crossed the swift water. At this ford in the creek a town developed; records show that eventually this hamlet was named Ellisville--today the old location is called "Old Town"--in honor of Powhatan Ellis, a United States Senator and Supreme Court Justice, who came to Mississippi from Virginia in 1818. Ellis, an indolent man but a good listener, claimed to be descended from Pocahontas.

Ellisville, as it is known today, was a town of merchants--brave men who served customers over a large area, since the nearest towns were Mobile and Shubuta. A list of these men would include such names as E. J. Ward, N. B. Shelby, Theodore Dubose, and J. P. Myer, the principal buyer of cotton in the area after the laying down of the railroad. The building once housing the Myer store exists today, its front doorway marked "1898." Though the building is vacant, people downtown often peer through the dusty windows at the emptiness--save for the mezzanine, a horse-shoe balcony--and a few citizens of Ellisville remember that this place housed a firm which, besides being a fine general store, bought and sold thousands of bales of cotton each year. The prosperity of Ellisville at that time, however, is not indicated only by cotton sales and purchases but also by the anomaly of the town's having had a hat shop, the first in the area.

Oleander at the window of a deserted house, a shutter swinging loose and the other fallen off.

Weathered front of J. P. Myer Company, an early mercantile store on main street downtown.

Friendly gray grocery store cat in the window of J. P. Myer Company rubs against dusty panes as cold taps the glass.

NEW TOWN MATURED

Wire fence in a pattern against the sunshine recalls an agricultural past and present in Ellisville's history.

The Victorian age touched Ellisville. An example of fine Victorian wrought iron in town is this rusting garden gate with curlicues and a fleur-de-lis on top.

Yellow brick court house in center of town is one of two in Jones County, whose county seats are both Ellisville and Laurel. Also the grounds of both buildings are graced by Confederate monuments of blue-white marble.

In addition to the merchants who came to Ellisville, lumbermen had moved in, attracted by the virgin forests of huge yellow pine. Among the first of these lumbermen was Isaac Anderson, whose house built in 1845, remains today, crumbling, the oldest in Ellisville. Lumber from the house, some of which was hewn from trees standing on what is now the main street of Ellisville, was sawed on a water mill and planed by hand. This house is often associated with Jones County's history during the Civil War.

In 1860 there were no plantations and few slaves in Jones County, thus its people voted against secession. Because of this vote and the opinion expressed as "a rich man's war and a poor man's fight," several men deserted the Confederate army. The Twenty-Negro Law stated that if a man owned twenty slaves or more, he was exempted from service in the Confederate army. Having no slaves, many resentful men from Jones County joined the Newt Knight gang, hid in the Leaf River swamps and made raids on the Confederates to bring the gang to justice. Striking Anderson's home, legend says that the shot a Confederate officer in the Isaac Anderson house. Blood stains allegedly still remain, impregnated in the heart-pine floor.

After the war the citizens of Ellisville, ashamed of the infamy by which their home had become known, changed the name of the town to Leesburg and the name of the county to Davis. Later, however, the original names were restored.

The year 1883 marked the death of "Old Town" and the birth of the present town of Ellisville. In that year the railroad came, bypassing the little community by nearly a mile. Since the railroad could not come to the town, the town had to move to the railroad, which is now near the center of Ellisville. Only traces and memories remain of "Old Town."

Sunset in early autumn glows behind a decaying house on one of Ellisville's red-clay hills.

SOPHOMORES

Moist cheerleaders Ethel and Linda have taken a nocturnal dip in the fish pond, a dip ushered in by some few brawny males who were inspired by the uproarious pep rally preceding the swim.

BONING UP FOR A TEST

First, read assignments; second, attend class and take copious notes; third, compare lecture notes with text in an all-night preparation for exam; last, ace test.

At the right, coed Joyce Breland crams in a few facts at the last minute. Below, students flunk lit test on Victorian prose.

ACTIVITIES

OLD ELLISVILLE

On Tallahala Creek, 1/2 mi. east is the oldest town in Jones County. Named for Powhatan Ellis, the city was a scene of opposition to secession, 1861 - 1865.

1849

A deserter shot a Confederate soldier in this house, and the living room. His blood is impregnated in the floor, but it is gone now because Mrs. Deason, being an orderly housewife, swept the floor and removed all traces of the blood as soon as she could. Captain McLemore, who was visiting Mrs. Deason, was in the area with specific orders to round up deserters for prosecution all army deserters, knowing that a Captain Deason was in the vicinity with such orders, two deserters, who were known as Newt Knight and Jasper Collins, approached Deason's house with the intention of killing the unidentified officer. When they saw Captain McLemore in the window, they recognized that he was an old friend, for the three men - Collins, Knight, and McLemore - had been playmates as boys. The two men drew straws, and fate declared that Newt Knight kill the captain.

The Ames Deasons, for whom Deason Street is named, had the house built in 1845 by slave labor. What appears to be masonry in the picture, is hand hewn lumber cut from the Deasons' own land.

Linda Greene and Mike Hillman, chosen in a student election, reigned smilingly over the Homecoming festivities.

THE BIGGEST DAY

The king and queen, with maids Janice, Betty, Charlotte, and Suzanne, bedeck a float of gold and white. The float was changed a bit from last year, and the king's crown was remodeled. Changes note a school's progressiveness.

Homecoming usually is a school's biggest day. 1964 Homecoming was big. Classes were temporarily disbanded, students cheerily greeted former students, and everything was an indication of harmony and effervescent good will. The band, after preliminary preening, was at its best, and teamed with neighboring high school bands, seemed to have well over its share of trombones. The Homecoming court, in gowns of white and dark suits, atop a faculty-built float added the necessary touch of graciousness to the affair. The perfect weather and a winning team were responsible for a total success.

Linda and Mike beam again, this time from behind the giant crown of the float.

IN PREPARATION

Two contorted coeds view their handiwork on the "Vote for Barry Bobcat" float.

Preparation for homecoming can, and usually does, turn into fun and games. If work doesn't precede games, then it must certainly follow because somehow, in spite of glue and glitter playfully tossed into companions' hair, and staples shot into the derrieres of numerous girls, floats appear on the appointed day. Some are clever, some are corny, and most are adorned with the flowers made from perhaps ten dozen boxes of paper napkins.

If there were suddenly a pulp shortage in the United States, a Jones Homecoming parade would be only a colorful and papery festival of the past.

None would deny Mr. Wallace's proficiency in a history class, but he seems to be having some difficulty with masking tape. Attribute it to the excitement of a parade.

The Sophomores won over the freshmen with a novelty Halloween theme and with the self confidence that comes from knowing that all the world loves a Sophomore.

Each year homecoming judges pick the best float in a particular category. There is the class competition, consisting of only two contesting floats; the girls dormitory competition, in which there are numerous entries; and the selection of the best float built by a campus religious organization; the vigorous competition between the Wesley Foundation and the B. S. U. There have been suggestions that the categories be eliminated altogether, but they will remain until a more satisfying solution arises.

With a giant Kleenex box and dorm girls dressed as mighty Bobcats, the girls' new dormitory took the honors away from the girls' old dormitory.

Wesley Foundation's float, with the theme of "Balanced Education," was the Judges' choice for the best entry by a religious organization.

Hillbillies, dogs, and raccoons grouped artfully around an out-house won for the Art Club a second place victory. Notice the crescent on the door.

Plasticized and harmonious, the Music Club's float passed the judges' platform and won the prize for the best club entry.

Campus coffee, pre-chewed tobacco, Monday tests, and chapel seats, are tossed into the Bobcat victory brew as the parade begins.

The rear view of the out-house float bids everyone to "See Rock City."

ON THESE TWO PAGES WE SHOW YOU THE LOSERS AND SOME VISITORS.

... and by losers we don't mean that the floats were of an inferior quality or any less original than the winners. Luck and judges just didn't look their way. Below: Political currents are felt even on a college campus, or especially on a college campus, as evidenced by the Forensic Club float. Their candidate did win. Top left: Their grins subsided a bit when their float didn't win, but, being coeds with the typical Jones indomitable spirit, they managed a loud hurrah at the Bobcat victory. Top right: "Yes, we'll march in your parade if our legs are given top billing." Immediate right: David, with uke and leg in view, is the B. S. U. president. He is mindful of his duties even when traveling with luscious tropical maidens on B. S. U. float. For right: "Yes, I'm particular about what band I play for, and my giant eagle spread proves it." Bottom left: Two nurse coeds, one with Stethoscope and other with heart-murmur chart, prepare expectant Bobcat for the delivery of a victory. Bottom right: "It's not sadism we advocate, just a healthy, militant attitude about a subversive wolf pack."

TWENTY-FIVE MINUS TWENTY LEAVES FIVE -- BETTYE, BECKY A., BECKY U., LINDA, DONNA

To present beautiful girls in a beautiful pageant and have the beautiful presentation result as a beautifully smooth performance takes weeks of planning and many rehearsals. Our beauty pageant had neither. Take the creation of a stage set in one day, for instance. The trek to the woods to gather pines turned into a party for the yearbook staff. Moreover, the single rehearsal convinced no one that the show was ready.

The nervousness of the twenty-five girls spread like plague backstage until there was chaos behind the curtains. To start with the judges had held the contestants in interviews longer than expected, so the show had a late start. Lights had to be changed, curtains pulled, entertainment co-ordinated, line-ups corrected. And there was eternal vanity. "Is my hair teased enough?" The audience couldn't see all the confusion, but some of it leaked out -- like when the girls in the first group of twelve collided, trying to make graceful exits. - C. E.

Class favorites and Mr. and Miss J.C.J.C. were chosen in elections preceding the pageant. By secret ballot, students voted for five girls and five boys from their class whom they considered to be good natured, jolly, and able to smile a lot. The ten students from each class gaining the largest number of votes were presented as favorites at the beauty pageant. Mr. and Miss J.C.J.C. were nominated in the same election. The ten boys and ten girls receiving the most votes were the nominees from which the top two were chosen. In the final run-off were Betty McAlpin, Becky Allums, James Nichols, and Wayne Thornton with Betty and Wayne the recipients of the honor.

Mr. M. P. Carter, head of the agriculture department, poses with speaker Dr. Louis N. Wise, Dean of the College of Agriculture at Mississippi State University and Stanley Shows, president of the Agriculture Club, at a banquet for agriculture students. The already very good agricultural curriculum will be widened as a result of the planned vocational building.

BUILDING FOR VOCATIONAL AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION PLANNED

After a meeting with Governor Johnson's liaison committee for the development of technical training in the public junior colleges in Mississippi and a meeting with the county board of supervisors, the board of trustees now plans a building to house the vocational and technical branches of the school's curriculum. The meeting with the governor's committee was called to request $150,000 from a $1,700,00 fund which the state appropriates for Mississippi's seventeen junior colleges. At the meeting with the board of supervisors, the school officials persuaded the county officials to increase county taxes one mill in order to raise the necessary $150,000 to match state funds. The $300,000 will finance the vocational and technical building which is still in the formative state. In the future, JCJC will graduate as many farmers, horologists, and mechanics as it does students ready to transfer to senior colleges.

At the decisive meeting in which funds were granted to the school were, from left, (seated): Edward A. Choyat, executive director of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors; E. P. Sylvester, Vocational and Technical Division of the State Department of Education; T. H. Harris, chairman of JCJC Board; W. S. Cobb, director of Youth Affairs and Training, Mississippi A and I Board, and George W. Harrison, Supervisor of Beat 4. (standing) are H. C. Odom, business manager at JCJC; J. H. Walker, S. T. Turnipseed and W. D. Powers, members of JCJC board; M. P. Carter, college vocational-technical department; W. D. Carmichael, president of M and M Bank, Ellisville; J. B. Young, JCJC president; G. M. Sonderson, board member and member of the state legislature, and C. Y. Wright, administrative assistant at the college.

Dancers Linda Thatch and Joyce Breland rehearse twirls and kicks off-stage for part in singing commercial of "Gallantry."

Making adjustments on lights, Tim Byrd looks to see that exactly the right singer is illuminated at exactly the right time.

Leads of "Down in the Valley," Marion Leggett and Ricky Yelverton, as Jenny and Brack, sing "Hop Up, My Lady."

ANNUAL OPERA WORKSHOP

Susan Hill, Allen Smith, Cynthia Moffett, and Bernard rehearse "Gallantry."

This year the music department's Opera Workshop presented a double bill of two one-acts, "Gallantry" and "Down in the Valley." The former is a spoof on a bromidic ingredient in American culture, the afternoon soap opera; it delighted the audience with singing commercials interrupting torrid love scenes over the operating table at crucial moments. Unfortunately due to the technical director's failure to detect an unplugged microphone backstage, the audience could not hear much of the complexity of the music, which the cast had mastered superbly. Otherwise, with a set built by the campus work crew from designs supplied by the art department and with furnishings kindly lent by Headrick's of Laurel, "Gallantry" was successful.

After curtain calls, "Down in the Valley," Kurt Weill's familiar opera based on folk tunes, sent the audience away singing. Conductor-Director Valentine, "Orchestra" Miss Brown, and Set Designer Ford were pleased with the public's warm reception of this year's production.

Directing rehearsal, Conductor raises arms to lead singers through a difficult passage. Behind, Miss Brown accompanies.

"Gallantry" was first performed in March of 1958 at Columbia University, New York City.

"Down in the Valley," centers around the American folk song of the same name. The story's action is in the South and is the love story of Brack Weaver and Jennie Parson. Brack, condemned to die for killing Thomas Bouch, escapes from prison to spend his last hours with Jennie. In flashback fashion, they relive their first meeting the dance at Shady Creek, and the death of Bouch. The vision is over when Brack is resigned now to his fate.

This opera was given its premier performance in 1948. It is an indigenous work with rustic atmosphere and is based on four American folk tunes. The listener will recognize "Sourwood Mountain," "The Little Black Train," "The Lonesome Dove," and "Hop Up, My Ladies."

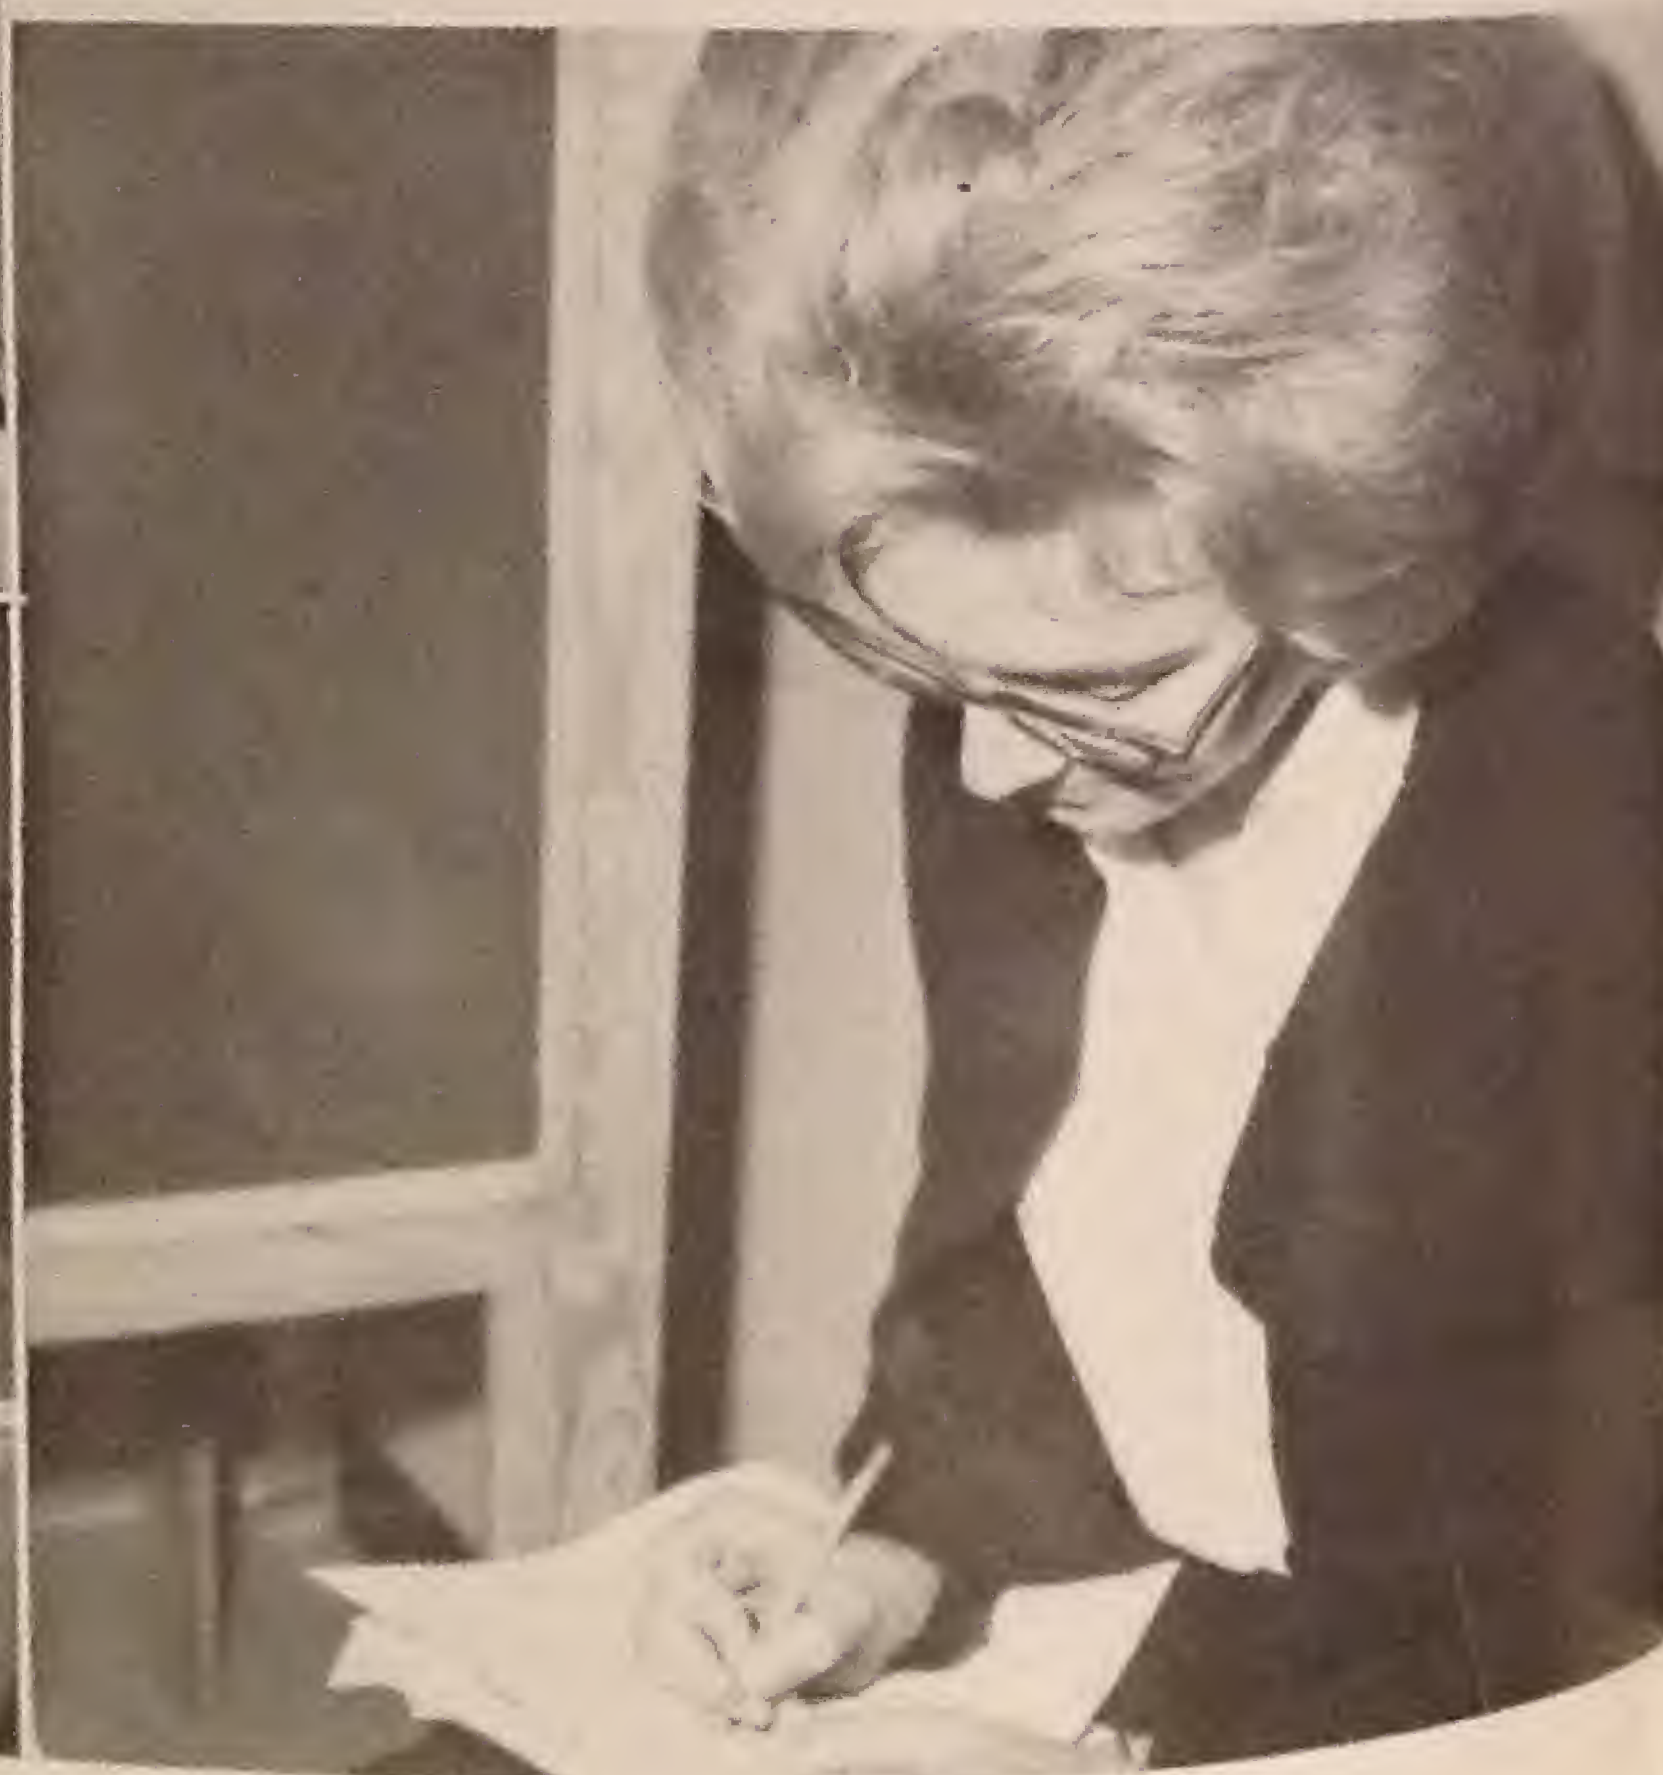

"Look, Miss Vivrette, I've pushed, but it won't go in. Will I be fined for the paper and junk stuffed in back?"

Happiness is finding a quiet place to study. Yet the chatter of silly girls out sometimes fills the Library.

"I'd love to get up and shout 'What good is knowing this junk gonna do me!'"

"Nominate a sophomore man and a sophomore woman for Mr. and Miss JCJC." Hmmm? "Ma-l-e-o-l-i-m X, S-a-n-d-r-a D-e-e."

LABOR AND THOUGHT

Add pinch of glitter to sticky substance on surface of bird's wing. Blow hard. Sweep floor.

"And now, class, for something of extreme interest: Listen to Mac-auley's view of why Neo-Classicism failed!"

Engrossed married couple study hard as the world goes by.

"Nominate five candidates for JCJC beauties." Hmmm? "S-i-m-b-o-d the S-a-i-l-o-r, M-u-r-e-l the S-u-r-f, L-i-b-r-a-r-i-a-n, M-a-d-m-e-l-i-n-a J-a-c-k-s-o-n, P-h-y-s-i-c-i-s D-i-l-l-e-r."

The Student Senate is a group of students elected by the student body to represent them in matters concerning student welfare. The Student Senate chose for its main objective this year the sponsorship of projects which would help improve environmental conditions for the students. President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer are elected by the student body. The class representatives are elected by their respective classes. The class presidents and religious group representative are standing members.

Among the Student Senate projects this year was an attempt to obtain a film series program. Regular activities of the senate include sponsorship of school dances, improvement of traffic and parking conditions, and organization of school elections.

PERSONA GRATA

Willows, growing out of a line of stones trapping fish, are almost submerged in swollen, muddy river.

James Nichols, swinging his machete against pine lighter, soon had started a blazing fire.

Watercolorist Ford, a chaperone, paints landscape of river with its shoreline of oaks, gums, pines.

The rising current soon washed away the mermaid the staff made on a sandbar.

LEAF RIVER COUNTRY

Across Leaf River swamps lay Wild Man's Den, where forty years ago a recluse lived in a shack, slept on pine straw, and ate only meat of wild game. When captured, he was paraded into town, like a crude and hirsute beast, to endure a civilized life.

Farther north, the river provided a legendary island for Newt Knight and his followers.

Choctaws laid boulders across a bend in the Leaf, and, in time, the collection of silt has sprouted a line of willows. Called the Fish Trap, it is a good spot to fish, an advantageous point to shoot turtles, and an ideal place to picnic.

The Lair staff tramped through the River Country one wet Saturday noting the sites.

A rotting house a century old in the River Country. Pine walls never painted, wire screens rotted, mellow smells of decay inside, and blooming jonquils lost in the weeds.

MR. BLACKWELL IS NAMED ALUMNUS OF THE YEAR

Alonzo Houston Blackwell, registrar, and head of history department, Jones County Junior College, was named honor alumnus at the alumni banquet, held in connection with homecoming at the college, Saturday, Oct. 31.

Robert H. McFarland, past president of the alumni association, made the presentation speech, and gave to Mr. Blackwell the engraved bronze plaque, in recognition of his contribution to the school in which he has served for 34 years, plus three years in high school, before the junior college was added.

The recipient of the honor award, has guided young people in the local school, and has given service in the educational field, in general. Blackwell is the fourth to be thus honored, the first award of this nature having been given to the late Dr. Ben Hilbun, past president Mississippi State University, in 1961.

The second honor alumnus was Lieutenant Governor Carroll Gartin, 1962, the third, Dr. Alton Bryant, vice chancellor University of Mississippi, 1963.

Other officers elected at Saturday's meeting of the alumni association, were Beulo Bowen, Rich-ton, president, succeeding Hilburn Shows; Hugh Dickens, principal Heidelberg High School, vice president; and Miss Elizabeth Lewis, Laurel, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

FEATURES

This fixture was supposedly installed in 1896 when the church was built. Pulleys show that originally it could be lowered for lighting its kerosene lamps. Many in Ellisville will remember 1965 with regret: the old church, one of Ellisville's last monuments, was demolished.

Jones County Junior College &
Agricultural High School
Ellisville, Mississippi

Dear Miss Mayfield:

It certainly has been my pleasure to act as judge of your 1965 LAIR Beauty Contest.

However, you made it difficult for me to choose just one winner out of five such lovely young ladies. But I have made my selections and have chosen Becky Allison as the Winner, Bettye Anitman as the First Runner-Up, and Linda Greene as the Second Runner-Up.

Every good wish to all.

Sincerely,

Perry Como

Mr. Perry Como delighted fan Janis Mayfield by consenting to judge Beauties. Photographs, by Bass of Laurel, were taken at historic sites in Ellisville: Bynum Graveyard, Bynum House, Haynes Saw Mill, and Tallahala Creek Bridge near the location of Old Town.

Mr. Como's letter shows the top beauty and her two alternates. Miss Grady's and Miss Ulmer's photographs thus have been arranged in alphabetical order.

MISS BECKY ALLUMS

Names of some of Ellisville's old families can be found in Bynum Cemetery in Old Town. Bynum, Myer, Weems, McManus, Ward, Bradley, Buchanan, Gerson, Cooley, Page, Abbey, Carter, Gray, Poole, Turner, and others. Infants as well as the very aged rest here, and epitaphs like "Our darling baby," "Gone but not forgotten," and "Safely anchored in the harbor of rest" mark gravestones, some plotted off by wrought iron fences. There are many kinds of stones: simulated tree trunks; obelisks, one with a carving of hands shaking (reunion in heaven? a greeting by the angels? farewell to loved ones?); plain marble stones (with a peaceful little lamb on top), a large arch, like a small Arch of Triumph sinking to one side; and a pair of markers for husband-and-wife-his shows a carved anchor, hers a Cherokee rose, reminiscent of "Barbara Allen." At the back of the cemetery is a mossy white stone upon which is carved "William M. Bryant, Co. E, 7 Ala. Cav., CSA." At this locally famous setting, pensive Becky Allums walks.

MISS BETTY JEAN AULTMAN

Sawmills of Ellisville no longer produce the fine yellow pine lumber for which the Piney Woods has been famous. Rust on the pulleys, chains, and saws in the dark sheds indicates that the machines have been idle for a long time.

But when sawmilling boomed in South Mississippi—Melrose Lumber Company and Ellisville Lumber Company among many—the town was the center of the lumbermen's activity.

Decaying sawdust has made good fertilizer to make the broom sage grow. Weathered scaffolding of Haynes Lumber Company behind her, Bettye Jean Aultman walks through the tall grasses.

MISS LINDA GREENE

Today Old Jail, a Pre-Civil-War structure, is surrounded by a tall hedge of thick bamboo. Crumbling and abandoned, Old Jail is a storage house filled with broken furniture. Inside on a wall a prisoner named "Manning" of Chicago wrote his name.

Tallahala is an Indian word for "smooth rock" and hence the name of a long, meandering creek of South Mississippi. On the banks Old Town was settled. Today although factory wastes have polluted the water with chemicals and chicken feathers, people recall that Ellisville's founding was here in the early nineteenth century and wish the creek were still beautiful.

Beautiful Donna Grady is photographed on the suspension bridge across the Tallahala.

MISS DONNA GRADY

MISS BECKY ULMER

Coming up the hill on Holly Street, one first sees the widow's walk (reminiscent of Queen Victoria's day) and the television antenna (reminiscent of ours) on the house of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bynum. Friends pronounce that the Bynum home is synonymous with active hospitality, festive Christmases, family reunions, and gardens and flowers. Here are ornate woodworkings on the porches, the comfort and coziness associated with the past era, and the many tasteful, authentic furnishings.

Bynum House, built in the 1880's by Sheriff Hugh McManus, was once considered to be far out in the country, but today, though it has kept its bucolic setting, it is not too far remote from town. The house came into Bynum possession within a decade after it was built.

One sees that the beauty of Becky Ulmer and of Bynum House are in accord.

WAYNE THORNTON AND BETTY

Mr. S. J. Johnson built this house presently occupied by the Deason Anderson family. Later, the illustrious Mr. Mulford Parker, grandfather of Mrs. Glenn Kitchens of Ellisville High School, bought and remodelled the house. The upper floor provided space for big dapples which Parker owned and raised at home. The Deason Lumber Company (later the Deason Lumber Co.) bought the place in 1936. Parker is said to have owned a lumberman's million dollar yacht that one day and night was up all day and night.

As a child, the Deason family having found a place in Pensacola by carpetbagger.

About 1931 Deason Anderson had become owner of the Victorian mansion. A wrought iron fence closes the lawn inside a square of formal gardens whose cement walks divide the geometrically shaped flower beds. The place suggests that the owners spent pleasant evenings conversing and watching the stars.

BOBCAT BAND AT ITS BEST

For the first time in many years the Bobcat band has the sound of an organization whose members work in harmony with their director and with other members. Much of the "new sound" stems from the dynamic personality of the director himself, Mr. Lawson, who has the unique ability to make band members enjoy the search for perfection. Anyone who has seen the band in action immediately notices the technical improvement, and anyone who has seen a practice session can sense the interdependency and mutual respect between director, officers, and individual members.

Band officers are Tim Blackledge, Marvin Seabrook, James Snellgrove, Dale Sellers, Jimmy Walters.

INCIDENT AT TALLAHOMA CREEK BRIDGE

The railroad drew old Ellisville to new foundations. A mile north of town, where Highway 11 and the tracks of Southern Railroad run side by side, the cheerleaders met one day to walk the rails, to scale the trestle, to scream a few yells, and then to wade back to Tommie's new red Mustang parked nearby.

Both the tracks and the highway cross Tallahoma Creek, which swells high over the sandbar when there is a heavy rain. In Choctaw the name of the creek means "red rock." Superstitious Indians found this area favorable, since, to them, a wind storm could not cross running water. Yet two creeks, Tallahoma and Tallohalla, are in the vicinity, and the Indians have often been proved wrong.

Mending her smeared eyebrow, Ethel asks her companions to wait a second before they begin throwing slag into the creek.

Head cheerleader Betty Hurst rests beside railroad trestle on a pile of slag and grass while the others romp on the sandbar across the creek.

Bobcat cheerleaders line up on the tracks over Tallahoma Creek to give a yell. By keeping football fever infectious all season, this spirited group cheered the Cats to win the state conference title.

To reach Highway 11 bridge, cheerleaders ford Tallahoma. They kept yelling "What's the big word?" Instead of "Beat Perk!" someone shouted "Hookworm!" Creeks are legendary protection against tornadoes, according to the Choctaws, nevertheless, the Bobcat cheerleaders storm across.

BOBCATS CLAW BULLDOGS IN OPENER 21-8

The Jones County Junior College Bobcats opened their 1964 season with a smashing victory of 21-8 over the Holmes Bulldogs.

The Bobcats held a mighty "tuff" defense that kept the Bulldogs in check until late in the fourth quarter.

The first scoring came midway in the first quarter, when Don Johnston plunged through the middle of the Bulldog line for the first touchdown of the season. Don also kicked the extra point to give Jones a 7-0 lead.

With about three minutes left to go in the first quarter Jones half back Sonny Windham, drove through the Holmes line for another six points; then Johnston kicked the extra point. The Bobcats didn't score again until after the half.

During the third quarter Sonny Windham glided across the goal for another touchdown and with the aid of Don Johnston's toe made the score 21-0.

PEARL TRIPS BOBCATS ON 10-YARD PASS PLAY

In a tight defensive scrap, Pearl River tripped Jones 6-0 behind the passing of PRJC quarterback Roland Pierce.

The game was a defensive all the way. The Bobcat defense held the Wildcats away from the goal line on fourteen different times during the game.

In the third quarter the Wildcats made their only scoring drive by way of a fumbled punt. The Bobcats held them until the fourth down when they finally broke through for the score.

The outstanding defensive players for Jones were Lacon Shepperd, Don Johnston, Tommy Parker, Joe Palmer, Larry Walker, Mike Magee, Rodney Jones, McArthur Hamburg, Ralph Thetch, Larry Skelton, Dwight Wiley.

BOBCATS SLAUGHTER BRAVES 22-0

The combination of a good offensive and defensive line and a good backfield helped the JCJC Bobcats suck under the Irawamba Indians by the score of 22 to 0.

The first touchdown of the game, came when Larry Suchy, a freshman quarterback, rolled around the right end for three yards and the touchdown. Don Johnston kicked the extra point.

The Indians fumbled a Jones punt in the end zone at the close of the first quarter, and the ball was covered safely by our freshman end, Robert Sorey. No scoring came during the second quarter, and the score at halftime was, Jones 14, Irawamba 0.

The last scoring came in the fourth quarter when Suchy again rolled out for the touchdown. The P.A.T. was thrown from Barry Jones to Larry Skelton.

BOBCATS SHOW MIGHTY POWER IN VICTORY 37-6

Again the combination of a "tuff" offense and defense, along with some great runs, the Jones County Junior College Bobcats slaughtered the Northwest Rangers by the score of 37-6.

A long 60-yard dash by Sonny Windham put the Bobcats ahead in the first quarter. Again "twinkle toes" Johnston kicked the extra point, and the score at half-time stood Jones 7, Northwest 0.

The next touchdown came in the third quarter from a pass by Larry Suchy to Dwight Wiley. Don Johnston kicked the extra point and the score stood: Jones 14, Northwest 0.

Jones' end Larry Skelton recovered a Jones fumble in the end zone during the fourth quarter and with the aid of Johnston's kicking added 7 to our score.

As if this wasn't enough, Wayne Thornton intercepted a Ranger pass and ran 70 yards for another touchdown. Johnston ran the extra point.

The final score for the Bobcats came on a pass from Jones to Skelton for 14 yards and the touchdown. Don Johnston ran the extra point, leaving the score 37-6.

COOLEY'S CATS WIN 5TH GAME

After being scored on by the Bears in the first quarter, the JCJC Bobcats came back with some fine running by Windham, Suchy, and Don Johnston, who moved the ball into Southwest territory. Windham moved in on a reverse play for 45 yards and the touchdown.

Near the end of the second quarter Barry Jones hit Wayne Thornton with a touchdown pass. The Bobcats went for the two point conversion and got it with another pass from Jones to Larry Skelton.

Early in the third quarter, Don Pennington intercepted a pass at the Southwest 36. After several tries the ball was finally moved deep into Southwest territory, and Windham clicked across for the score.

In the final period, the Bobcats intercepted a Southwest pass at the Bobcat 36 and returned it to the 50 yard line. Another pass from Jones added to the score and another Bobcat victory 26-6.

RUINED ECJC HOME- COMING 23-0

The Jones Bobcats got off to a slow start in the first quarter, but began to start rolling early in the second quarter.

Jim Sellers opened the Bobcat scoring against the East Central Warriors with a 3 yard run, after which Don Johnston kicked the extra point for the Bobcats.

In the last minutes of the first half Sellers again scored - this time on a five-yard run and aided by Larry Suchy's running of the extra point, which made the halftime score Jones 14, East Central 0.

The last scoring done by the Bobcats came in the third quarter when Don Johnston scored on a 5-yard run. Wayne Thornton ran the extra point to make the final score Jones 23, East Central 0.

The Scooba Lions went into this eighth game with a perfect record. And they racked up a quick first-quarter touchdown and added the extra point to take a 7 to 0 lead. The Bobcat fans were frantic as the Lions scored. But in that same first quarter the Bobcats partially blocked a Scooba punt to gain possession within striking distance and opened a scoring drive. The touchdown was scored by a short run by Windham. The Cats went for a two-point conversion, but failed.

Late in the first quarter, the Bobcats scored on a pass from Suchy to Dwight Wiley. Again the Bobcats went for the two-point conversion. And again they failed, leaving the half-time score 12 to 7. Early in the Third quarter the Cats scored again, but rooting Lions came right behind and scored too, cutting our lead 19 to 13.

This was too close for comfort for the Cats, and in the final quarter they soared back for two touchdowns.

Playing before a capacity Homecoming crowd, the excited Jones County Junior College Bobcats added another victory over the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves to their belts.

The Wolves were sly during the game, and the defeat was not as easily gained this time as it was the last 4 times.

After several fumbles Sonny Windham, Don Johnston, and Wayne Thornton picked up yardage and finally Thornton smashed three yards to the four, and from there Jones went in for the score. The try for the extra point was not good.

Early in the final quarter Tammy Parker intercepted a Co-Lin pass at the Bobcat 40 and returned it to the Wolves' 47. In 10 plays, Windham, Suchy, and Johnston moved the ball to the ten. From there Windham stormed the right for the touchdown. The try for the point was not good, but the Cats had their 20-7 victory.

BOBCATS SCORE SMASHING WIN OF 14-0 OVER PERK

The Perkinston Bulldogs went into the game fired up and lead the first half by a 6 to 0 score.

The Bobcats didn't make their first score until midway in the third quarter when Larry Suchy passed to Dwight Wiley for a 70 yard touchdown jaunt. Don Johnston kicked the extra point to give Jones a 7 to 6 lead.

In the fourth quarter Suchy rolled around left tackle for a 14-yard touchdown run. Jon Johnston again kicked the extra point to give Jones a 14 to 6 win. This ballgame ended the Bobcats 1964-1965 season, giving them the State Junior College Football Crown.

STARRY-EYED EAGLE SCARED AS BOBCATS WIN CLOSE ONE

Tied for first place, the Bobcats went into the next to last game. The Bobcats looked bad first quarter, trailing 13 to 0. In the second quarter the Bobcats made their first real progressive move. Larry Suchy hit Larry Skelton with a 10-Yard pass for the first Cat touchdown, and Don Johnston kicked the extra point. This cut the lead to 13 to 7 at half-time.

On the first play in the third quarter the Eagles scored another touchdown, leading the Bobcats 20 to 7.

When the final frame opened, Johnston scored from 15 yards out on a draw and kicked the extra point.

Midway in the fourth quarter, the Bobcats drove 50 yards to score, and Johnston again booted the extra point. A crucial pass from Suchy to Johnson carried the ball to the 3-yard line. Jim Sellers carried the ball on over for the touchdown.

In the last few seconds of the game, the Eagles attempted a field goal from 42 yards out. It was a good kick but fell short, but the Cats came through with the 21 to 20 victory.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
HEAD BASKETBALL COACH
A. B. HOWARD

BASKETBALL

The JCJC Bobcats took on an unusually rough schedule this year and came out on the short end of the score more times than not. Coach A. B. Howard fielded a team just as good as, if not better than, his teams in the previous years, but the competition proved fatal, as the Bobcats finished up the year with 5 wins and 16 losses. Bad breaks prevented the Bobcats from winning many close games that could have gone either way, but even then, the Bobcats fought valiantly and never gave up. Several highlights of the season included a couple of exciting victories on the home court where the fast-breaking JCJC quintet proved to be a real terror. The Bobcats downed the Scooba Lions, 94-83, and then romped over bitter rival Holmes, 79-67, late in the season.

BOBCATS IN ACTION

Sophomore this year and a star player, Clark Bryan has really been an aid to the team. Here he goes up for two points and the game.

MONDAY OR ANYTIME

Presented here is a cliché among yearbook publications which stems from a cliché itself: In ways too numerous to mention, male seeks the companionship of female and vice versa. But, then, almost everyone is glad it is a cliché.

"And after I get established in the real estate business, maybe we can afford our own home and move out of these barracks!"

Boy and girl friend engage in one of the unlimited play-time activities on campus. Boy feels way as the girl feels assured of boy's good intentions.

"Frankly, Theresa, I can't see what the season has to do with anything."

Man in uniform prompts girl to effect a prompt proposal of a quick marriage to the prospective recruit.

Love often seeks the isolation of an open window

This is not exactly the way I was instructed!

"I promised Dad I'd wear it on my wedding day."

CALM PLEASURES

"With my erector set I can build a world."

Can it be the love of psychology that causes this student to ignore the cold cement and the discomfort of contorted limbs?
Perhaps it's the chapter on Freud.

"My name has to be in here somewhere."

The best friends are always those from Laurel if you happen to be Laurel born and bred.

What I like about him
is that he's not ardent."

Toss me another peanut, Dayton."

HOURS OF IDLENESS

"No, my mother has other plans for my future."

They say it's a new trade route to the Orient or a secret passage from "Theodore G. Bilbo" Dorm to the Student Center

Jerry, palm up, gets ready to catch a ping-pong ball.

Backs turned to speaker, coeds gossip instead of listening to lecture.

ELLISVILLE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

This church building, the oldest in Ellisville, was constructed in 1892. Located across from the southeast corner of the courthouse and surrounded by large oaks, it enjoys one of the most beautiful and peaceful settings a church can have. The steeple houses a large bell which, until recent years, rang every Sunday morning.

During second quarter when Freshmen write research papers, necessary conferences with instructors are frequent. Here Mrs. Gibbon advises a student to strengthen his thesis sentence.

Mr. Webb rings up a sale. Well-stocked bookstore is visited by hundreds of students every day.

Two students drop by Mr. Thomas's office either to clear up some unexcused absences or to visit his assistants, Donna Grady and Montressa Cochran.

At the sink in the lounge Mrs. Elmore chuckles as she washes up a few dirty dishes. The aroma of percolating coffee drifted up and down the corridors to announce to faculty that it was time for a coffee break. An electric urn, an innovation this year, made the lounge popular.

Enjoying a lunch of chicken, light bread, oranges, and tea, Miss Hayes sips her hot drink while Mrs. Thomas bites into a drumstick. Faculty members enjoy using the attractive lounge in library building for conversations, eating meals, and grading papers.

Simultaneously Mr. Waltman, in room 15, prepares his students for testing, and the stenographic force, in the printing room, manages graph exams.

Busy at work, the stenographers and bookkeepers in the Business Office keep records, pay bills, and collect fees.

Efficient, friendly campus nurse, Mrs. Moorhead, took Jane Hearn's blood pressure when Jane visited the clinic.

While Mrs. Knight dispenses trays and Mrs. Thomas punches tickets, the line of students eating at the cafeteria begins to grow longer.

This photograph was taken in 1965, after the building had been renovated. It shows the building in its original condition. The building was built in 1900 and was one of the largest hardware stores in Southeast Mississippi. It contained at least two floors, one a mezzanine, a fireproof safe for books, and a sign on the sidewalk in the lower left corner of the picture. This authentic picture shows the store with its original lines. In 1965 renovation began—in fact, on the day after this photograph was taken.

OLD ELLISVILLE

A crowd standing outside the old Jones County Court House in about 1900.

Laying Corner Stone 4th

When the corner stone of Jones County Court House was laid on July 4, 1908, either there was much sun or a drizzle, as the umbrellas indicate. The torn corner of photo resulted when someone removed the stamp from the back of this post card.

Owner of Ellisville Lumber Company, Mr. Mulford Parker, brought his Negro night watchman a bottle of Bourbon Street whiskey when returning from a trip to New Orleans in 1907. Unfortunately the watchman was not able to put out the fire which destroyed the mill on that same night.

First Presbyterian Church
Ellisville - Mississippi

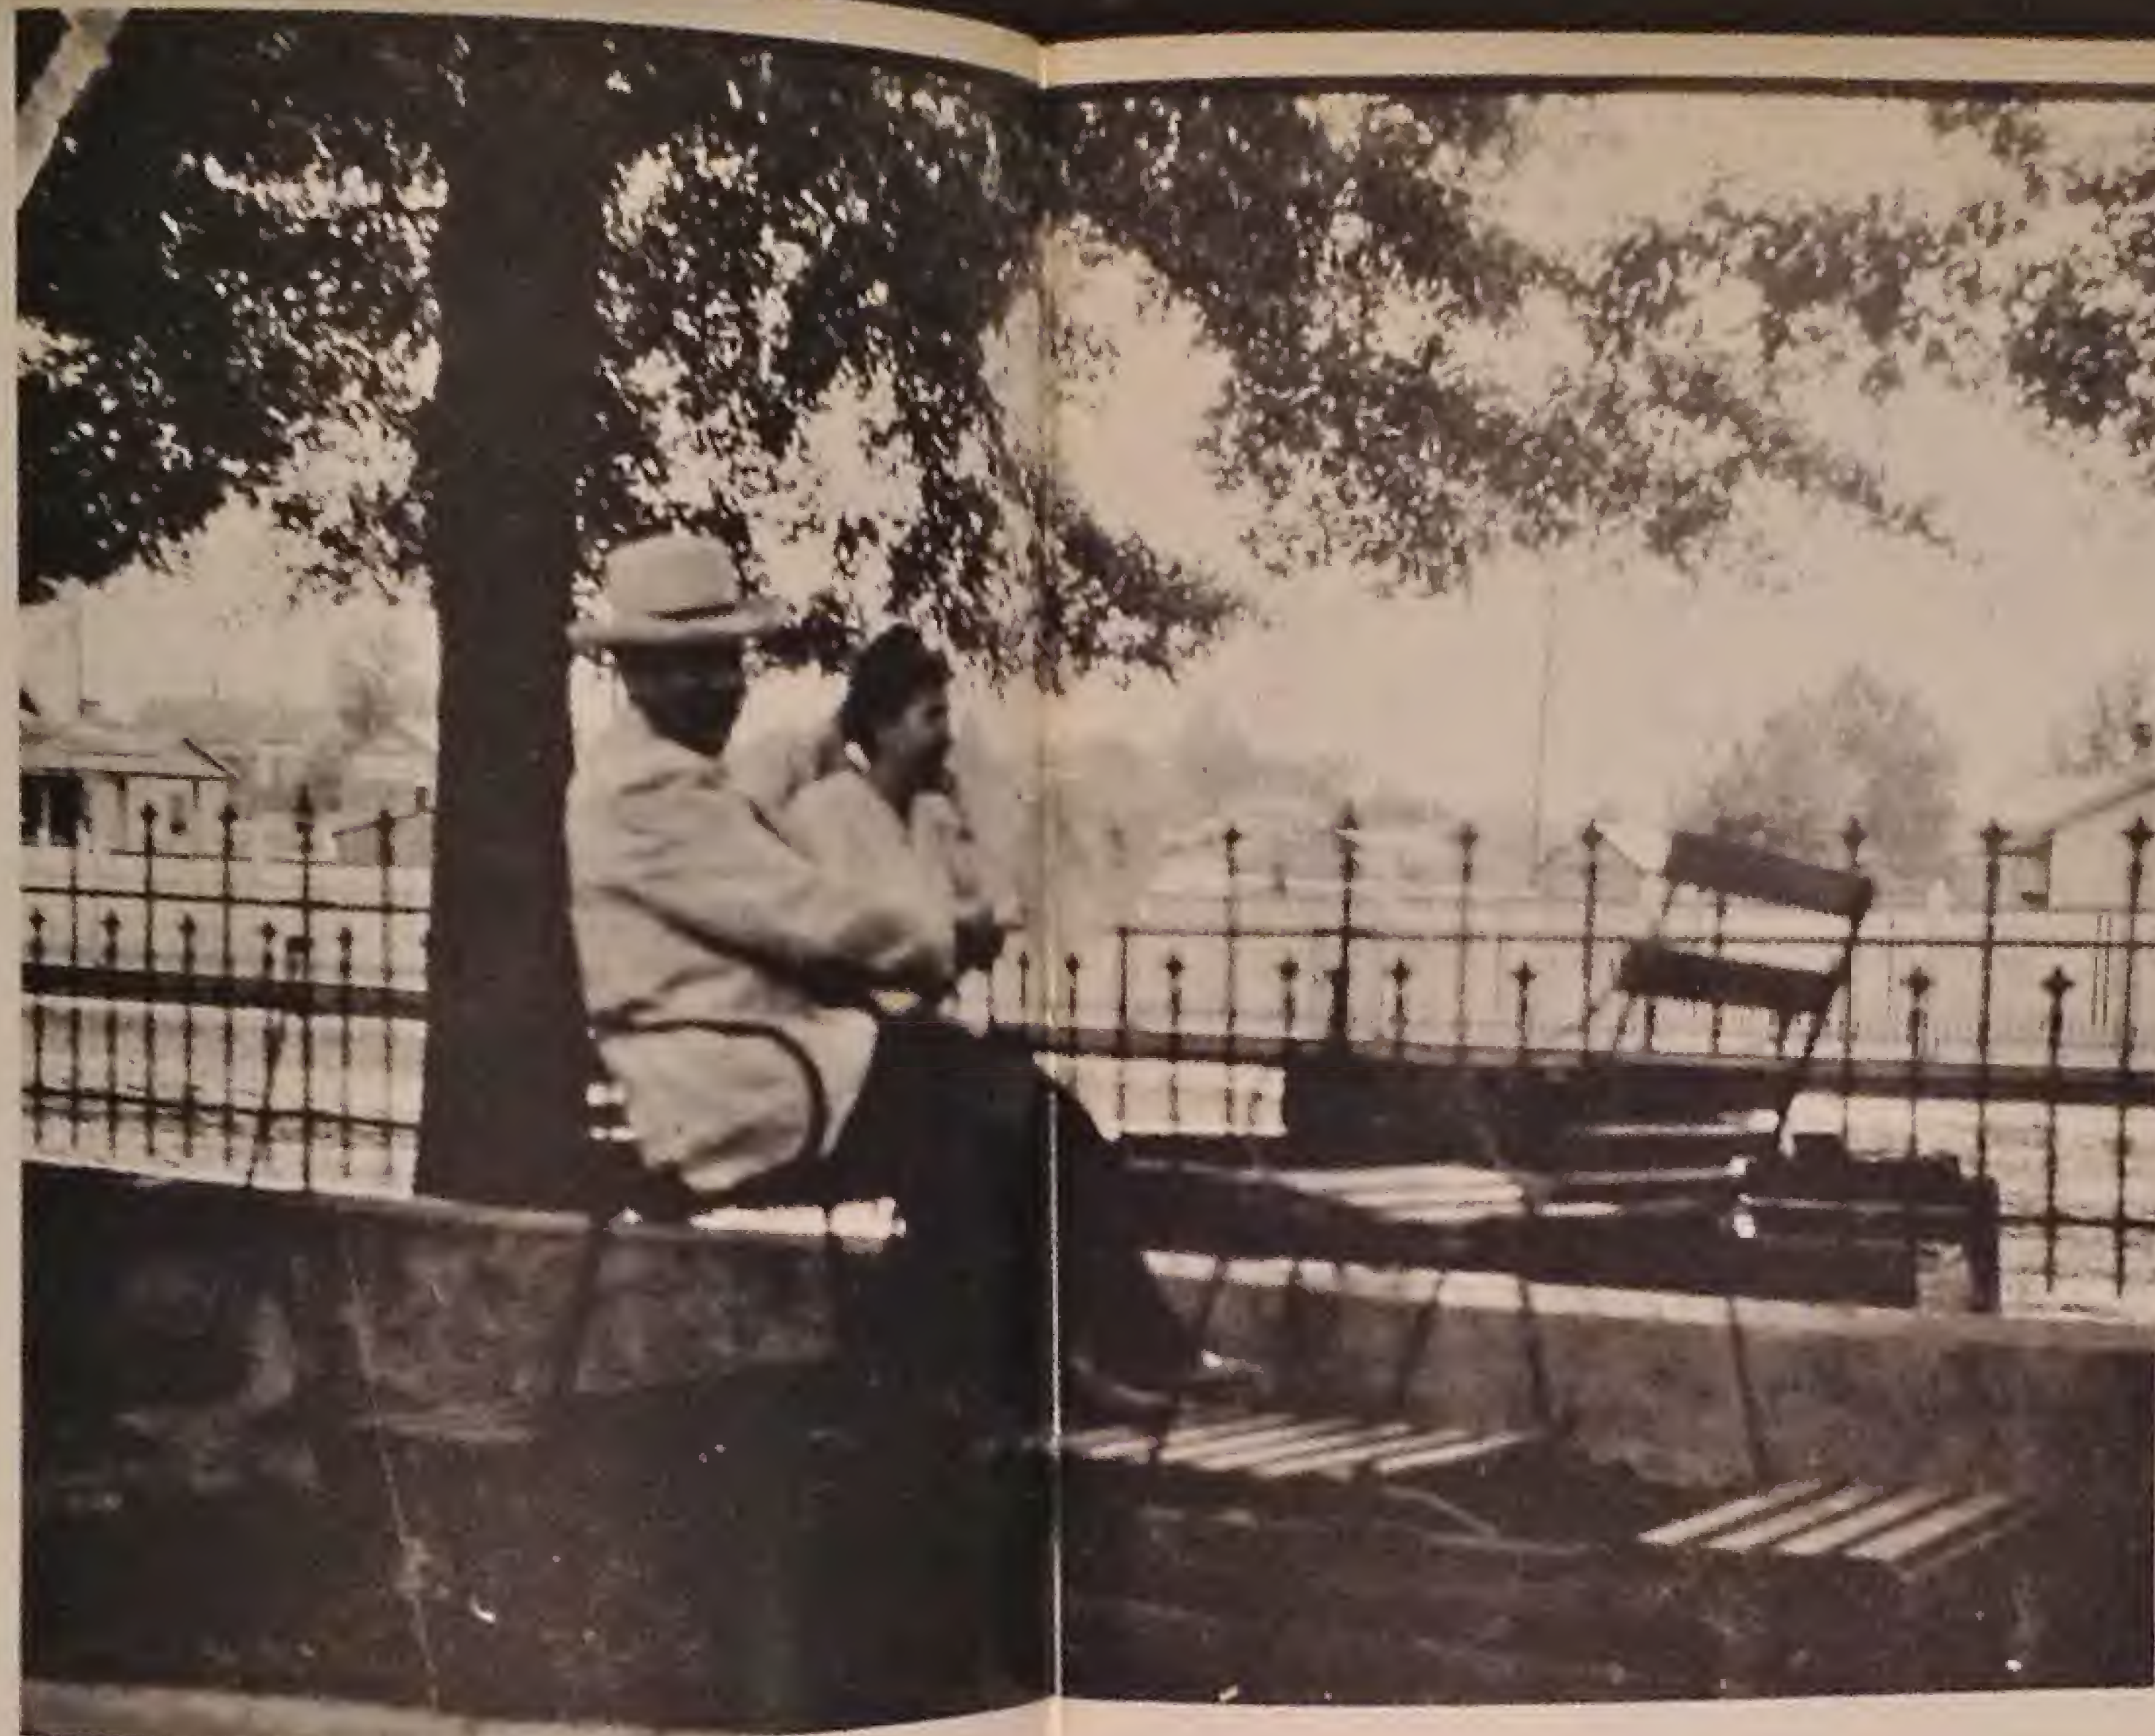

Ellisville Presbyterian Church is the only old church in town serving a white congregation. Many hope it will be preserved, for sadly other old churches have been demolished.

AS THE CENTURY TURNED

Post card to Miss Lizzie Parker from 1904 St. Louis World's Fair shows the Mississippi State House, architecturally similar to Jefferson Davis's Beauvoir. Message says: "Wednesday, St. Louis - Am having a fine time and wish you were here too. Am going to write you as soon as I get back to Springfield."

Miss Parker and her white dog enjoy one of the many geometrical flower beds in the garden.

Ladies pose on old mill train at Melrose Lumber Company.

The contraption in front of the grill fence is a lawn swing. The couple with the palmetto fan keeps cool and comfortable on a hot summer afternoon at the Parker home.

Laughing Parker girls in their Gibson Girl dresses rest against tall iron urn in their front yard.

Dripping wooden gingerbread, the Mulford Parker home, now the residence of the Deason Andersons, boasts large verandas and a latticed gazebo.

EARLY DAYS

1. Weighing cotton on the railroad platform. 2. Miss Candace Carter's private school on the Shelby lot. 3. A busy day in Ellisville, 1906. The J. P. Myer Company is the building beyond the ox team in the foreground. 4. Log cabin, a Negro family's home, has a cat sitting in the door. The yard is picked clean of every blade of grass.

Razorback hogs ran wild in Jones County woods and often became vicious when lumbermen were clearing trees.

A team load of logs comes forth from the woods for milling.

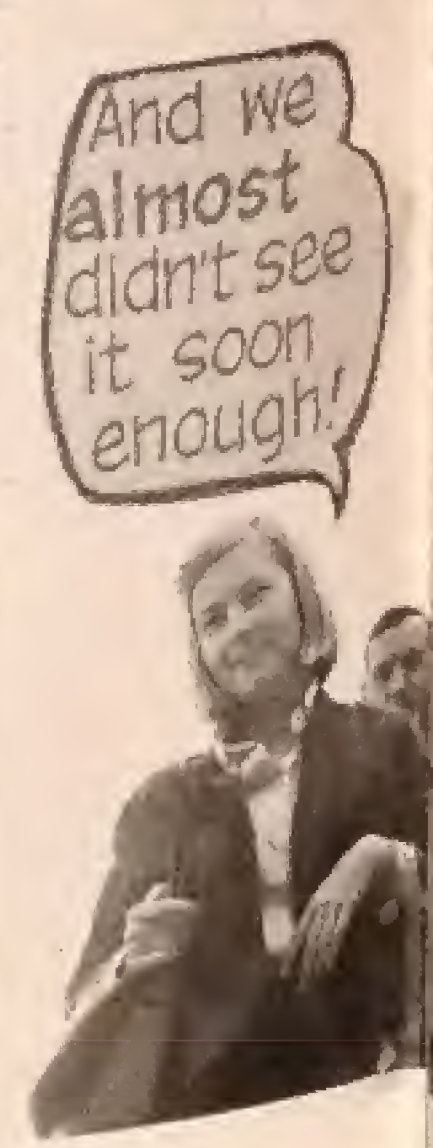

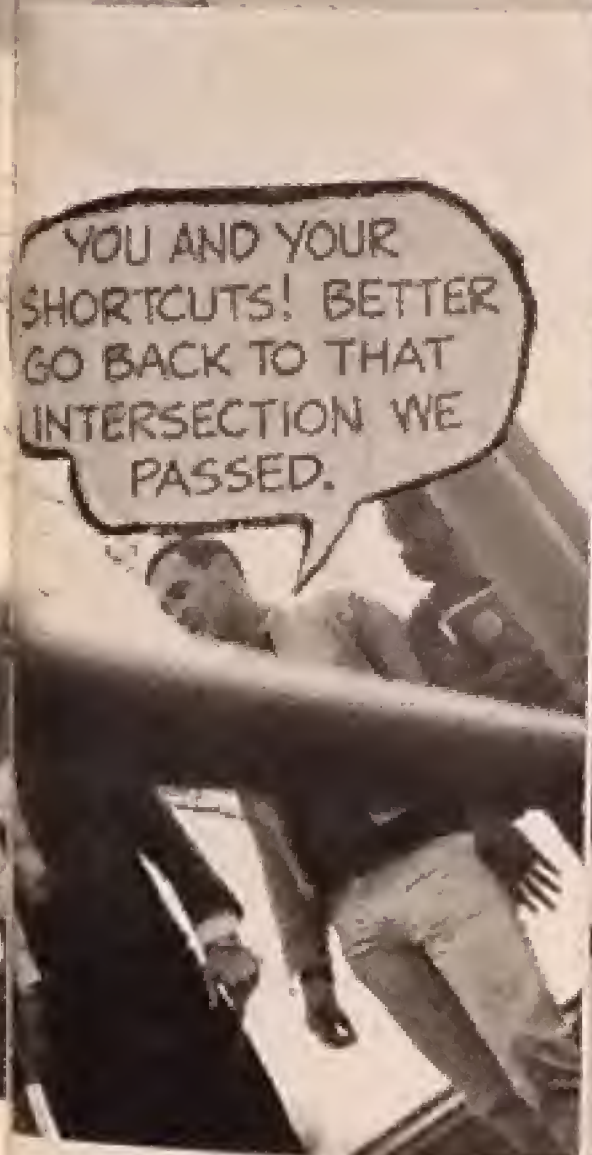

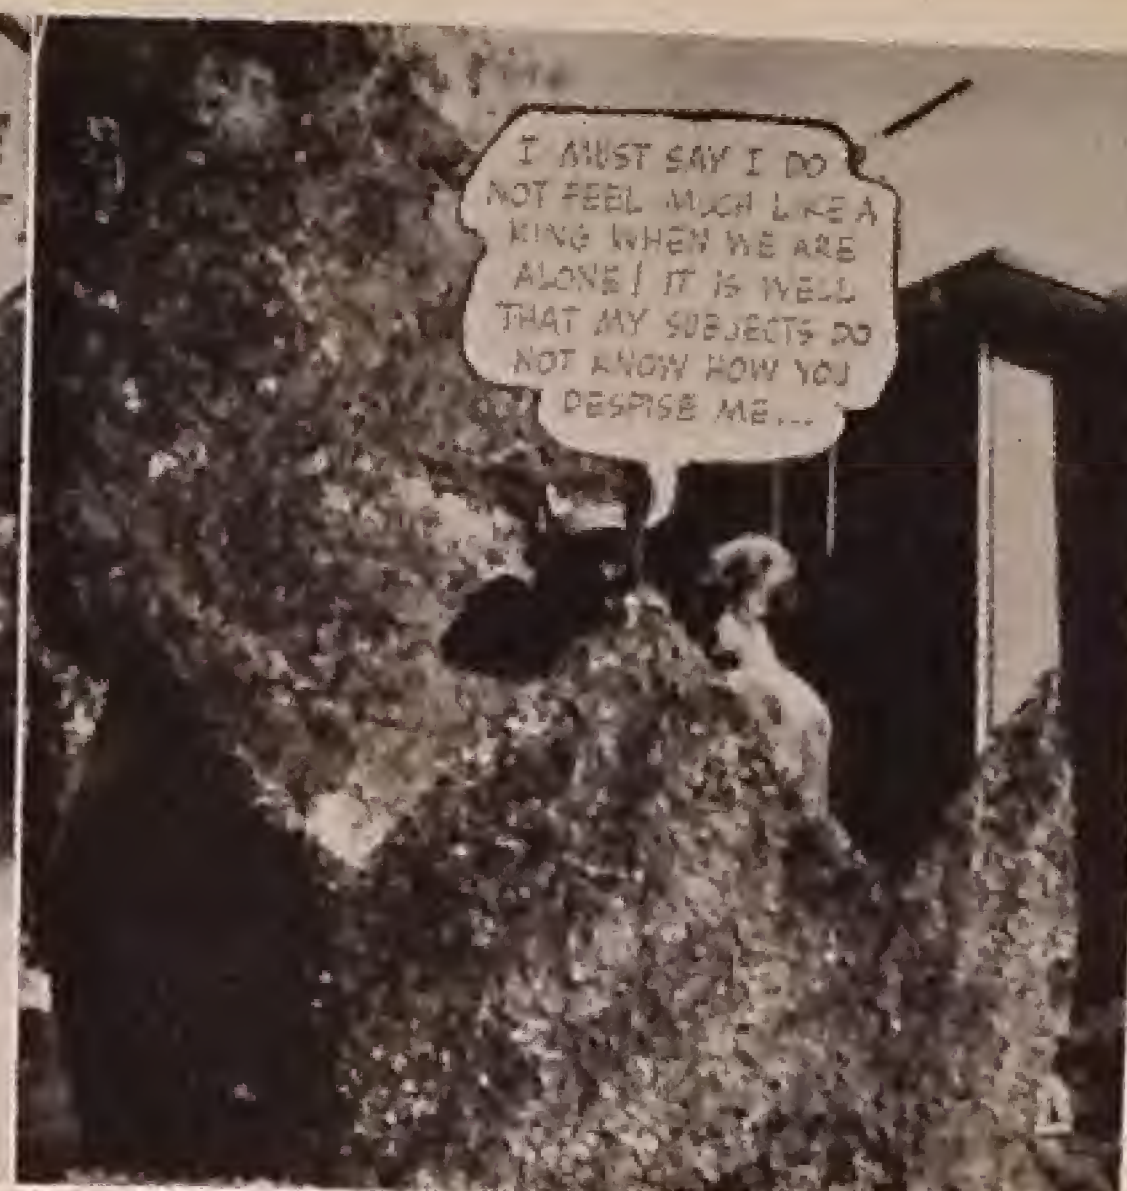

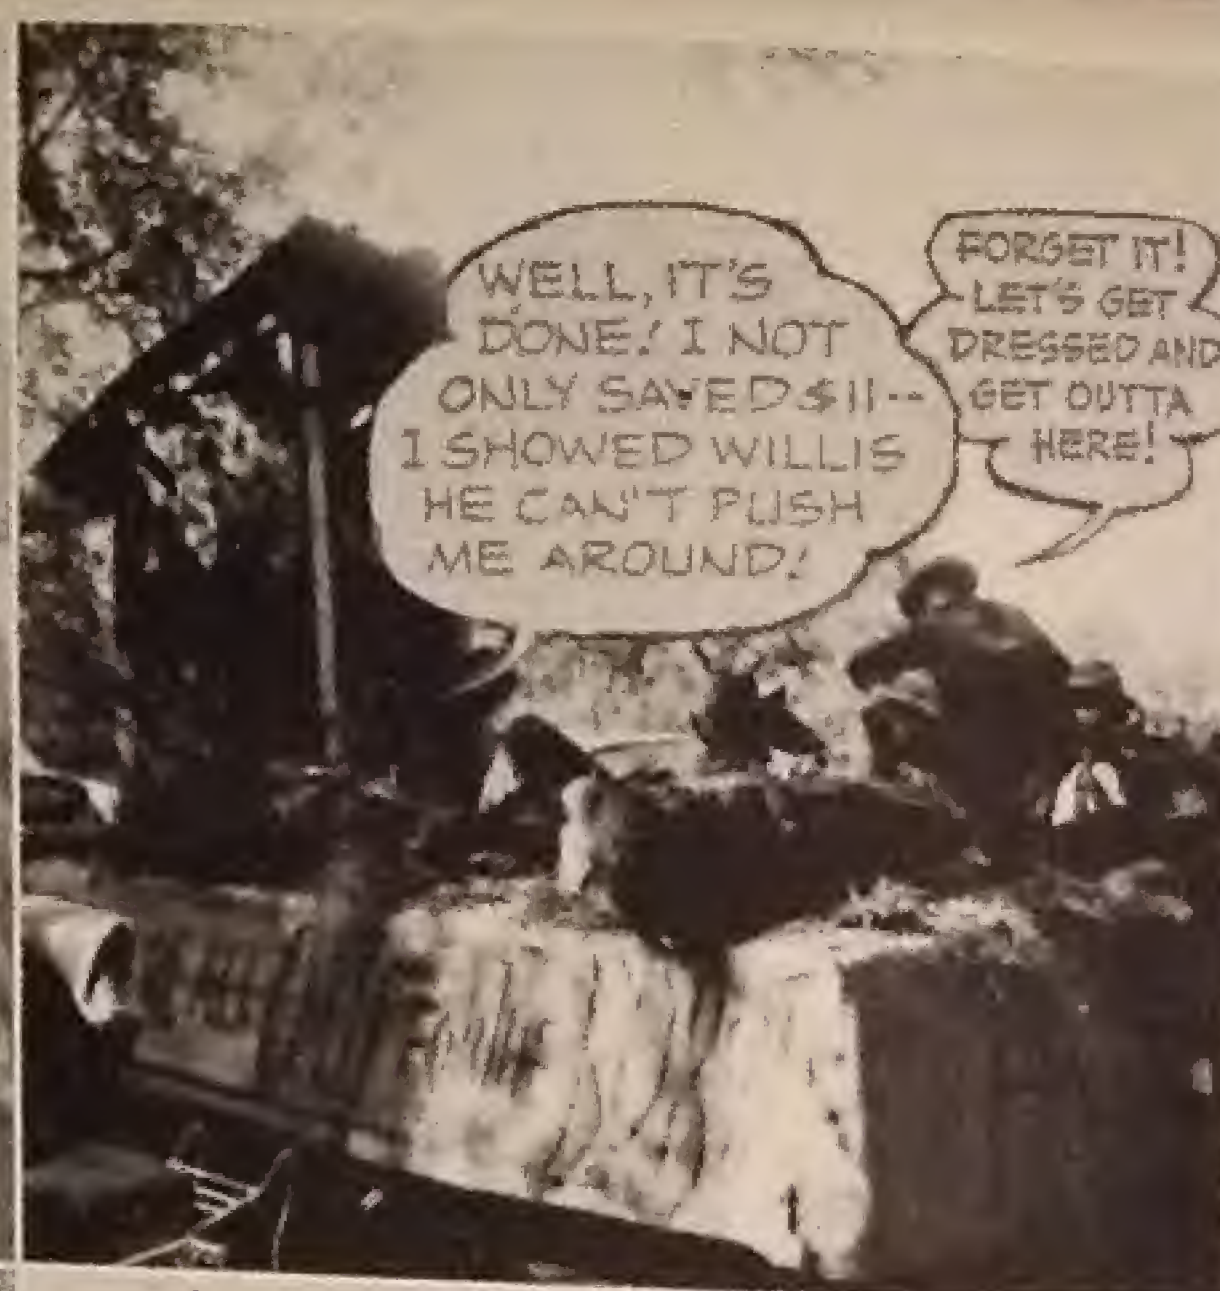

OVER 50 YEARS AGO

The famous eight-wheel log wagon was invented for local use. Oxen pull the load through the weeds, and a razorback runs past.
